MILITARY COURT'S STERN AC-TION AT CRIPPLE CREEK.

Gen. Bell Closes Portland Mine and President Burns May Take Case to U. S. Supreme Court-The Citizens' Alliance Now Proposes to Make War on All Unions.

CRIPPLE CREEK, Col., June 9 .- Eighty eight agitators were deported from the camp to-day by order of Gen. Bell, after he had received a report of the investigation commission recommending this action.
The men will probably go to Denver.

A commission is trying the prisoners taken by the militia and releasing those telieved to be harmless. Word reached military headquarters this morning that the remaining union miners here were meeting in a grocery store. A squad of ten soldiers was despatched to effect a capture, but the men had gone when the military

"Death to unionism in the Cripple Creek district" is the new slogan of the Citizens' Alliance. That body has sent a decree broadcast that every person connected with any union, be it carpenters' ,cooks', waiters', printers', bartenders', bricklavers', stonemasons' or what not, must either sever his or her connection with the same immediately or leave the district.

Preliminary steps to enforce this decree have already been made, and as soon as all of the details have been worked out the campaign to exterminate unionism from this camp will be begun.

This is considered the most drastic step yet made by the alliance since it secured the upper hand in the district, and its enforcement will affect 3,000 men and women now affiliated with the various unions. The first object of the alliance is to disrupt the Cripple Creek district trades and labor assembly, and then will come the disbanding of the individual unions.

The announcement of the plans of the illiance has already caused a deep feeling among the unionists, who emphatically assert they will fight the movement to a Of Heroic Size and Sincerity Attracts

During a flerce hailstorm at midnight last night eight men, whose identity is not known, entered the Victor Record office face to the wall, while two men with sledges demolished the typesetting machines presses, typewriters and telephone and piled all the type in a heap on the floor. Proprietor Kyner of the newspaper says he will resume publication as soon as a new plant can be installed.

Col. John Sharp to-day led a squad of twenty-two heavily armed deputies on horseback to Bull Hill, where it is said sixty miners are hidden. The party will go to Beaver Creek, six miles east of Victor. and it is thought that if the men are found another battle will ensue.

The establishment of a bullpen in this city has been one of the features. Already there are over fifty incarcerated there. The mining exchange at the corner of Sec ond and Bennett avenues is being used Armed deputies are perched in the gallery of the exchange, the prisoners occupying the pit of the call room. Several guards are at the door, each carrying repeating shotgues that contain buckshot.

The largest crowd that has ever wit nessed a funeral service at Victor packed about the Hunt undertaking parlors, where the services was held at 10 o'clock. All business houses were closed for an hour as a mark of sympathy and respect. Four

James F. Burns, president of the Portland Mining Company, is in Denver and this afternoon was closeted with his attorneys, who are preparing papers, which will probably be filed in the United States Circuit Court to-night, asking for a restraining order to prevent further interference upon the part of the State military authorities with the operation of the Portland mine. Burns will also ask that military be withdrawn from the vicinity of his property and that he be allowed to protect his men when they got back to work. This move will naturally be only preliminary to the question reaching the Supreme Court of the United States.

MANUFACTURERS SLOW TO ANTE. Tariff League Solicitor Gets Little-Roosevelt's Attitude the Cause? INDIANAPOLIS, June 9 .- Three hundred dollars is said to be all that an agent of the American Protective Tariff League has secured by a canvass of the manufacturers of this city, Fort Wayne, Terre Haute, Anderson and a dozen other Indiana cities he having appealed to them to contribute to the league because the Democrats propose to return to the old issue of tariff reform in the coming campaign. It is said that one-half of the amount was subscribed by two manufacturers of this city, but that most of the men who have heretofore given liberally refused to subscribe anything to the work of the league, saying they would wait until the nominations are made and the issues decided upon.

The reason for the failure to subscribe liberally to the cause of protection is said to be due to the attitude that the President has assumed toward employers in general and capital in particular and the feeling of distrust that this attitude has occasioned: Clarence H. Brown is the man employed by the league to get subscriptions, and it is said that he has met with such poor suc-

The four groups of statuary, which range along the entire front of the building directly under the gable, are described as a superb exhibition of high art and a fine demonstration in anatomy.

All the figures are of white marble and of heroic size and sincerity. The central figure is that of a woman in flowing robes representing "Integrity, the bulwark of sound finance." On either side of the central figure are two groups, representing the "wealth producing sources." groups to the north of the central figure represent "Primitive Agriculture and the Products of the Soil," and "Mining." The male figures in these groups are not at all conventionalized, and the same is true of the two groups to the south of the central figure, which represent "Motive Power, Scientific and Mechanical Appliances," and "The Designer and the Mechanic."

While the statuary was being put up it was hidden in burlap. Now that it is. all up, the coverings have been removed and the figures stand out in all their power and beauty. All yesterday afternoon, in ALONE, MET CHARGE OF 700 One Sepoy Would Not Retreat to Cover When the Tibetans Attacked.

Special Cable Despatch to THE SUN. LONDON, June 9.—A despatch Hyangtse, Tibet, gives the details of the Tibetan attack on Kangma post, in which one Sepoy killed and six wounded formed the total British losses. The onslaught of Tibetans began at dawn. They descended a hill in two solid masses. A part of the troops had already started to march from the post, but those outside the fortifications immediately ran back to cover, save one Sepoy. He refused to budge and received the charge of the whole 700 Tibetans. After shooting five of them he was cut down, despite a heavy fire from the post.

The Tibetans reached the walls and attempted to climb over, hacking at the men at the loopholes with their swords, and even seizing the muzzles of the protruding rifles. Meanwhile those behind kept up a furious fire with matchlocks and Lhasa rifles. The Tibetans kept up the attack for half an hour with the utmost ferocity.

THAT SUBMARINE SEEN AGAIN.

WITHOUT MUCH DOUBT THE PRO-TECTOR-BOUND FOR JAPAN?

Tugboatmen Saw It Put on the Fortune -The Fortuna Not Headed for Cork -May Pick Up Her Orders Affoat and Could Sell Her Coal in the Yellow Sea.

The steamer Fortuna, nominally bound for Cork with a cargo of 4,000 tons of steam coal, really has a submarine torpedo boat aboard and that submarine is without much doubt the Lake boat Protector.

The Fortuna, as THE SUN related on Monday, was seen off Sandy Hook and in Prince's Bay on Sunday with what looked remarkably like a submarine on her deck. t was learned yesterday that the tug James A. Garfield, Capt. Herrickson, belonging to the McCaldin Bros. Company of $1 Broad street, took two men out to the Fortuna on Sunday morning while the submarine was being hoisted aboard.

Capt. Herrickson said yesterday that he reached the Fortuna about 10 o'clock Sunday morning and that one of his passengers was Daniel Bacon, shipping agent of the Fortuna. The other passenger Capt. Herrickson didn't know. As the tug neared the starboard side of the Fortuna Capt. Herrickson saw what appeared to be a torpedo boat being lifted to the deck on the port side. The James A. Garfield lay alongside the steamer only long enough to put her two passengers on the steam-

"Of course I may be mistaken," said Capt. Herrickson, "in thinking that it was a torpedo boat. All I could do was to judge from the rig. I should say that the boat was between forty and fifty feet long."

The submarine hadn't been raised as high as the deck of the Fortung when the Garfield was alongside, and its weight careered the floating derrick which was raising it. Capt. Herrickson said that the floating cess in Indiana that he is discouraged at derrick was the Monarch of the Merritt-Chapman company. There was another floating derrick | near by, which, as near as the crew of the Garfield could make out, was the Reliance of the same com-

DADY At the offices of the Merritt-Chapman company they wouldn't say yesterday whether the company had hoisted any thing aboard the Fortuna. * Capt. G. Dannemann of the Prinzess rene, which got here yesterday from Mediterranean ports, reports having met the Fortuna going east with the submarine boat aboard. The Prinzess Irene passed the Fortuna on Tuesday afternoon so close that the Fortuna's name could be read without a glass. On the deck of the Fortuna on the port side was lashed a boat that corresponded exactly to pictures of the Lake submarine torpedo boat Protector which Capt. Dannemann had seen in the Scientific American. The craft appeared to be between 50 and 60 feet in length. The Fortuna must have averaged under 8 knots since leaving New York, at which pace it takes a long time to go, say, 15,000 miles. If Capt. Dannemann saw the Protector it was the same boat that left the Lake submarine shipyards in Bridgeport, Conn. on Saturday. The Protector was then headed for New York, but the officials of the company wouldn't give any information concerning her whereabouts.

A few days before the Protector left Bridgeport she was inspected by men supposed to be Japanese officers. The Proector failed to show up at Newport, take part in the submarine boat tests conducted by the Navy Board of Inspection and Survey. Congress has appropriated $850,000 to expend for the type of submarine boat which are proved best in the trials. If Russia or Japan has purchased the Protector the builders must be looking for a good thing to give up their chance of winning the $850.000

The Fortuna's last clearance papers were taken out at Norfolk for Cork, Ireland. As the Prinzess Irene met her on the south ern route it may be that the Fortuna is bound for Ireland by way of the Cape of Good Hop- or the Suez Canal. If her clearance reads "to Cork for orders," she may be able to get her orders without going quit to Cork. Capt. Royan told the pilot who took him out that he didn't know where he was going. He may get his orders at sea. Evidently he has coal enough to go any where, even at eight knots, burning fifteer tons a day, and what he doesn't use he can sell at high prices to either of the belligerents in the Yellow Sea, if the other bel ligerent doesn't get him.

According to Lloyd's Record the Fortuna s owned by S. L. Christie. Mr. Bacon has seen somewhat reticent about his presen onnection with her, but it was said yes erday by members of two prominent shipoing firms here that he is part owner.

One of the largest shipping firms in the city was approached some time ago with proposition concerning the Fortuna. Just what the proposition was a member of the firm wouldn't tell yesterday. But he did say, with a smile, that the proposition was too "queer" for him.

Perhaps the submarine is going out on spec." Consul-General Uchida of Japan thinks that neither the Japanes or the Russian Government has purchased or bargained for a submarine here and that if anybody is sending the submarine to the seat of war as a speculation the speculators will have their trouble for their pains. "Russia," he said, "has several places where she can construct sub marines and has no need to purchase them from any other country. The attitude of the Japanese Government is that submarines are good for defensive warfare. but useless for offensive on account of thei inadaptability for long voyages. Japan is not carrying on a defensive war now and has no need to plan for one. The ques tion of submarines was thoroughly dis cussed before the outbreak of hostilities and it was decided that there was no need of more than Japan has already. Nothing as occurred since to make a change of Japan's plans necessary. Japan holds no port on the Liaotung peninsula at present where there are accommodations for the setting up and repair of submarines. Indeed I doubt if there is any port fully equipped except Port Arthur, if that is, and we haven't got Port Arthur yet so far as I know."

KNOX TO SUCCEED QUAY. The Attorney-General Selected for United States Senator and Accepts.

PHILADELPHIA, June 9.-Philander C. Knox, Attorney-General of the United States, will succeed the late Matthew S. Quay as United States Senator from Pennsylvania. Mr. Knox, whose name was the last to be presented as a Senatorial possibility, was chosen to-day by the Republican State leaders, who have been holding conferences all this week. The Attorney-General has agreed to accept the place, and, upon appointment by Gov. Pennypacker, he will serve out the unexpired term of Senator Quay, which terminates next March.

The selection of Mr. Knox, which is considered satisfactory to all the State leaders, is regarded as equivalent to election for the ensuing full term by the Legislature when it convenes in January. At least, it is understood that the Attorney-General has been assured of election, and that it was on this condition that he consented to be a candidate. It has not been announced that the Attorney-General will retire from the Cabinet, but it is expected that he will submit his resignation to President Roosevelt in a few weeks.

As it had been decided that Quay's successor should come from the western part of the State, the leaders of Allegheny county had the opportunity of naming the candidate, and after George T. Oliver, ex-Senator Flinn and Francis L. Robbins had been bowled over, Mr. Knox's name was finally presented and his selection followed.

The conference that resulted in the naming of the Attorney General was attended by United States Senator Penrose, the recognized State leader; Insurance Commissioner Durham, ex-Senator Don Cam eron, ex-Senator Flinn, Richard Quay, a son of the late Senator, and A. J. Cassatt. president of the Pennsylvania Railroad, who, it is understood, represented the corporation's interests throughout the

CANDIDATES AGREE NOT TO PAY Pennsylvania Men Seeking Nominations

Influenced by Anti-Bribery Talk. WILKESBARRE, Pa., June 9 .- The anti pribery and anti-boodle campaign which has been waged among prominent Republicans here for the last few weeks resulted o-day in nineteen of the candidates for Congressional, Senatorial and county offices, who will seek nominations next Tuesday, making an agreement not to pay he delegates anything. At previous Congressional and Senatorial conventions as high as $200 has been paid. Congressman Palmer, the leader of the movement, presented the agreement and declared emphatically that he would not accept a reelection if it was going to cost him one cent, and he pronounced even the so-called legitimate expenses of the delegates as bribery. It was agreed that the county committee shall pay each delegate $3 and carfare, An anti-bribery association of prominent citizens offers reward for conviction of persons offering or receiving bribes at the convention.

GEN. MEADE'S WIDOW ON TRIAL. Accused of Tapping Electric Wires to Illuminate Her Home.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., June 9 .- The widow of Gen. Meade, the hero of Gettysburg, is on trial in the Criminal Court here charged with surreptitiously obtaining electricity from the Jenkintown Electric Light Company to illuminate her home. The prosecution's testimony showed that after a meter was removed from the house because Mrs. Meade refused to pay for light bill contracted by her son-in-law Mr. Dugan, she had a connection made with the cut wires. The company produced testimony that when they cut their wires in the street the lights in Mrs. Meade's mansion were extinguished and when reconnected the house was immediately illu for Next Tuesday. PRILADELPHIA, June 9.-Miss Elsie Whelen, who is to marry Mr. Robert Goelet, the young New York millionaire, at Wayne, next Tuesday, obtained her marriage license to-day. She went to the License Bureau accompanied by her father, and they got there just in time, as the clock only lacked one minute of the hour of closing. There were ten other applicants in the office ahead of them waiting for licenses. and Miss Whelen and her father were annoyed when they learned that they would have to wait until their turn came. Miss Whelen gave all the data necessary for the application without the least embarrassment. She was born in this city on Dec. 19, 1880, her affidavit says. MOSES WEIL, RICH DRY GOODS MERCHANT, A SUICIDE.

Doctor Says Bullet Pierced Heart; Coroner Insists It Lodged in His Brain-Vice-President of J. Spencer Turner Co. Was a Rich Man-Abscess in His Head. Moses Weil, second vice-president of the J. Spencer Turner Company, a dry goods corporation of 88 Worth street, killed himself in his apartments at Sherry's yesterday morning. His body was found, partly dressed, on the bed at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. A .32-calibre revolver was lying on his stomach. He had been dead hen about six hours. As to the nature of the wound or wounds which he inflicted upon himself there are two widely differing stories. Dr. Henry S. Spooner of 25 West Forty-fourth street, who was called in when the suicide was discovered, said that Weil shot himself twice. One bullet, he said, entered the head near the right temple and glanced off, making but a flesh wound. The other entered between the eighth and ninth ribs and must have pierced the heart, causing instant death Coroner Goldenkranz, who took charge of the case, told the reporters that the bullet that killed Weil entered his brain. Whether or not there was a second bullet wound, ne said, could not be determined until an autopsy had been made. He admitted that there was a discoloration of the skin near the heart and a slight bruise or abrasion. but he was by no means sure that they were produced by a bullet from a pistol.

Policeman Van Gilder of the East Fiftyfirst street station took charge of the revolver. Two chambers had been disharged.

Strong efforts were made to hush up the case and neither Coroner Goldenkranz nor the people at Sherry's could be induced to give anything like a comprehensive account of the suicide.

Mr. Sherry himself is in Europe. Manager Flauraud at first told the reporters that Weil had not committed suicide, but that he had been killed by accident. He said that while Weil was handling the revolver it fell to the floor and exploded, wounding him fatally. When the case was reported to Coroner Goldenkranz at the Criminal Courts Building, by an assistant of the sexton of Temple Emanu-El at Forty-third street and Fifth avenue, no record of it was put on the books. Instead, the Coroner sent a message to Cor-oner's Physician O' Hanlon to meet him at the Grand Central Station. From there they went to Sherry's and viewed the body together. When they came downstairs again, the Coroner was not at all disposed to give any definite information about the case.

Weil was a bachelor and was reported to be wealthy. He came to this city six years ago from Monroe, La., and entered the employ of the J. Spencer Turner Company. He was first made secretary and then second vice-president. His associates were J. Sponcer Turner, Herbert H. Lebman, Elbert A. Brinckerhoff, Jr., Thomas M. Turner, Laurin H. Turner and Gilbert H. Turner. The capital of the concern s $750,000.

The dead man had been in poor health for several years, and to this cause his friends attribute the tragedy. He was under treatment two months last fall at Dr. Arnold Knapp's sanitarium for a severe wear smoked glasses and was extremely nervous. Dr. Knapp said he worried greatly about his health, and that he was probably suffering from mental disorder when he shot himself. According to Herbert Lehman, he was suffering from an abscess in the head, which threatened to affect his brain, and he was to undergo an operation soon. It was also said that he had made plans to go to Europe for treatment Weil was about on Wednesday and was apparently as well as usual. In the afternoon he visited the Harmonic Club, in West Forty-second street, of which he was a member. He was out in the evening and came back to Sherry's with his uncle, Edward Drevfus. The last man who saw him alive was Night Clerk Michael Boyhan of Sherry's. The suicide's apartment was on the ninth floor, where he had two rooms. Newspapers were left outside the door as usual resterday morning. At 2 o'clock in the afternoon it was found that he had not taken them in, and the door was forced open. The body was removed last night to the undertaking rooms of J. & J. W. Stolts, at 420 East 106th street.

All of Weil's triends said last night that he was in splendid shape financially, and that he had no troubles of any kind except those which arose from ill health. One nan who knew him quite well said that he had heard casually that he was engaged to be married, but he did not know the name of his flancée. His brother, Joseph

MRS. W. F. SHEEHAN ROBBED. Her $1,200 Watch Stolen in St. Louis-A

"Rames" at the Fair? St. Louis, June 9 .- It was learned to-day that Mrs. William F. Sheehan, of New York, was robbed of a gem-studded watch on Tuesday evening at the New York State Building while attending the ball given to the West Point Cadets. The watch was a present from Mr. Sheshan to his wife and was valued at $1,200.

Mrs. Sheehan was greatly troubled over her loss, and every effort has been made to get some trace of the watch, but thus far without avail, though many detectives have been working on the case. Mr. and Mrs. Sheehan left last evening for New York without the watch, but hope that it will be recovered. Several thefts have been reported to the police within the last few weeks, which lead them to believe that within the pale of the "exposition 400" there is some one light of finger and lax of morality. Chinese Fleeing to Chefoo Bring News of the Garrison-Rumers of Four Day Fight-Japanese Fleet Bombarding Along the Coast-Defeat for Russia.

Special Cable Despatches to THE SUN. LONDON, June 10 .- A despatch to the Daily Mail from Chefoo says that junks are continually arriving from Port Arthur. about 2,000 Chinese refugees. Many others

The Military Governor allows all natives not engaged in the dockyard and defences to leave. Japanese cruisers intercepted the junks and gave the refugees food, which they needed very much.

It is reported that the Japanese land forces are within eight miles of Port Arthur, but so far no important collision has taken place on land near the fortress.

RUSSIA PREPARING FOR SEA - FIGHT. The Standard's correspondent at Chefoo quotes a mechanic who was engaged for the last six months on the Government docks at Port Arthur as saying that the workshops and the town are practically undamaged by the bombardment, and that all the warships, with the exception of the Czarevitoh, Retvizan and another, have been completely repaired. These three are in the inner basin. The docks cannot accommodate them, being engaged in work that will take six months. Several torpedo boats are being repaired in the docks. A French and a German officer daily inspect the vessels under repairs. In addition to a considerable number of torpedo boats the Russians have six large warships ready for sea. All their guns are aboard, with the exception of a few quick-firers, which are mounted in the forts surrounding the town. PART THE SHIPS ARE PLAYING.

On Monday night the Japanese fleet fired a few shots at Port Arthur, but the Russians did not attempt to put to sea. Heavy firing was heard in the direction of Yenchingtse, where the Russians are reported to be holding out strongly. It is believed that Japanese vessels are aiding the troops. Port Arthur is surrounded with intrenchments fifteen feet deep, surmounted by heavy guns. Many places in the outlying districts are thickly mined. Owing to the unfamiliarity of the Chinese with such work the Russians were forced to do all the intrenching. There are still a large number of Chinese at Port Arthur. The Russians announced on Monday that all wishing to leave might do so during the following three days, after which no permission would be given. Other despatches from Chefoo quote Chinese refugees as saying that fighting had been going on for four days within ten miles of Port Arthur and that every soldier had gone to the front. The outer forts are reported to have been badly damaged by the Japanese fire, though the inner fortifications have suffered little. It is evident that the Japanese are preventing the sending of any news pending their operations against Port Arthur, The most sanguine friends of Russia on the Con-

but was afterward reenforced by eleven others. It consisted of six ships of the first class, while the rest were second and third class vessels and torpedo boats. "The squadron cruised in sections, bornbarding various points east of Kaichau and Senouchchen (Siungyuchen?), directing their fire at our posts and patrols wherever they appeared. The bombardment ceased at 7 o'clock, when the squadron steamed southward. We sustained no loss and the damage was immaterial. "At 8 A. M. Wednesday eight vessels again appeared south of Kwantsiatung and lowered boats. Six others comm to bombard the coast near Senyuchen and the town itself. There was no landing. Japanese troops are concentrating south on a front of over sixteen kilometres from Pulandien to Pangtsfatun, in the Valley of the Tassa-Ho. TOGO'S VESSELS NEAR PORT ARTHUR. Tokio, June 9.-Admiral Togo reports that on Tuesday night he sent eight small torpedo boats on a reconnoissance into Port Arthur Bay. They entered far into the bay and were exposed to the fire of the Russians. One sailor and one petty officer were killed.

The boats were not damaged. Admiral Katako reports that Monday last he landed men on the south side of Shaeshantao Island to reconnoitre. They found many buildings only partly destroyed. There were some supplies in the hospital on the island. The clearing away of mines in Tallenwan Bay continues. Eleven were discovered and exploded on Tuesday and twenty-one yesterday, this clearing the bay completely. On Wednesday the wrecks of two sunken ships were found. They were identified as those of the Boyarin, the Russian eruseer
